Cindy,

I would like to be considered for the open position on borough council. I think with my public service background, it would be something I am used to doing.

Most of my career was spent as a street cop, crime prevention officer and community policing specialist. That means that I talked to public groups regularly and attempted to solve their issues by looking outside of the box for solutions. Most complainants wanted someone to just listen to them as their problem could not be solved and they were frustrated that they believed nobody was hearing them. Even though you had the arrest powers and carried a gun, that could not solve their specific problem but maybe you could reach out to another agency and make life a little easier for them. It didn't cost anything but time and it meant a lot to the people involved. Some say it wasn't real policing but it made positive and sometimes permanent changes to our little corner of the world.

I believe our borough council is kind of like that. This is a great way for me to step in and see if you guys like my negotiation and communication skills, and for me to see if I am a good fit for the job.

I think we have a great council already and I would not want to change its course or drive from what it is now.

I look forward to the challenge and working together in the group.

Thank you for your consideration,
